Germany Proposes Immediate Peace Meeting

European Newspaper Talk of American Peace Note Takes on a New Impetus Today

(The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Newspaper discussion of President Wilson's peace note was given a new impetus by the Swiss note disclosing the Swiss-American consultation of weeks ago and long dispatches regarding the American discussions.

objections to "inopportune" neutral intervention. Others appealed for courteous treatment of the neutral representations. The Swiss note, while in some quarters was declared to offer no greater prospect of peace than the American communication, was treated more leniently.

Unless Carranza Replies Today Negotiations to Probably Cease

(The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Unless Carranza today replies favorably to the last communication of the American members of the Mexican-American commission, negotiations will end. The American members in refusing the counter protocol presented by the Mexican commissioners after the effort of Carranza to reject the agreement reached at Atlantic City, insisted that an answer is expected today. It was not said that a failure to ratify the agreement would end negotiations but it was intimated that the Americans would not continue the discussions. The Mexican commissioners meet in New York today. If Carranza sends his answer it is expected that it will be forwarded immediately to Secretary Lane, head of the American commission.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Germany proposes an immediate meeting of belligerent delegates to discuss peace.

The proposal is made in the reply of the Germanic allies to the peace note of President Wilson.

The reply suggests that the representatives of the belligerents meet in a neutral place.

The task of preventing future wars, the note says, can be begun only after the present war ends. Germany will then be ready to "collaborate entirely with the United States in this exalted task," says the reply. The note opened with reference to the president's "high-minded" suggestion, declaring his note was received and considered in a friendly spirit.

WASHINGTON SURPRISED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Officials here are surprised that Germany's answer to the president's note was given out in Berlin before it reached here. It is officially pointed out that the president gave his note time to reach Berlin before issuing it here. No formal comment was made on the action of the German government.

Teutons Report More Gains; Over 5,000 More Prisoners in New Rumanian Campaign

(The Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Two allied patrol boats were sunk and four other allied warships damaged in the recent naval engagement in Otranto Strait. The Austrian admiral also announces that two Austrian destroyers made the raid.

Filipehti, on the railroad between Bazen and Braila, has been captured in a bayonet charge. Strong Russian positions on both sides of the village were stormed, said the official statement issued by the war office today. The Teutonic allies have taken 5,500 more prisoners in Rumania, the war office announces.

Other Neutral Nations May Follow Lead of Switzerland

(The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—From indications accumulating here other neutral nations will take action similar to Switzerland in supporting the American peace move. It is said that Holland, Spain, the Scandinavian countries and the pope are expected to take action soon. Messages from individuals throughout the world praising President Wilson for his action continue to arrive at the White House.

E. A. Simpson, of Simpson & Pope, developers of Ortona on the peninsula between this city and Ormond, returned Saturday night from Hartford, Conn., to which place he had been recalled by business and rejoined Mrs. Simpson at Ortona where she remained during his trip north.

1,700 PRESENTS GIVEN AWAY BY GER.-AM. SOCIETY

LITTLE CHILDREN MADE HAPPY
BY PRESENTS AND PROGRAM—
BIG FOLKS ENJOYED THE EVENING, TOO.

The annual Christmas celebration of the German-American society was held Sunday evening in the Arcade amusement hall which was filled to overflowing with delighted children and their interested relatives and friends, who had gathered there to participate in or witness, as the case might be, the Christmas festival conducted in German fashion, according to the customs of the Fatherland where the day has a particularly deep hold on the hearts of the people but is more especially devoted to the little folk.

The big hall had been especially decorated for the occasion and reflected light and color from every point. The arrangement of the Christmas trees, seats, etc., was very much better than in former years and the lighting of the trees was very beautiful, with the myriads of colored electric light bulbs.

The pleasures of the evening were inaugurated with a delightful overture by Tucker's orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Kirk, following which C. F. Burgman was introduced as master of ceremonies. In a short address Mr. Burgman spoke of the cosmopolitan character of the audience and expressed the pleasure of the German-American society in heartily welcoming such a large audience. He spoke in a happy, Christmas spirit, of the fact that while no funds had been solicited, goodly sums had been voluntarily contributed for which he was pleased to thank the generous donors.

The Misses Julia Michael and Anna Mills then rendered a piano duet, fol-

RENDERED GOOD SERVICE FOR PEOPLE OF JACKSONVILLE

Bernard Thyson, manager of the Purity Ice Cream company of Jacksonville, is spending the day in Daytona. Owing to the efforts of Mr. Thyson the price of milk was kept down in Jacksonville, although a united effort was made by the producers to raise the price. The medium was publicity, which created public sentiment and scored a victory for the Purity Ice Cream company. In speaking of their efforts to keep prices down Mr. Thyson said: "To raise the price of milk would be to rob babies of their sustenance, so we headed the movement on the part of wholesalers against an increase. We used the daily and weekly press and let the light shine on the motives which prompted the producers. As a result prices remain the same for milk, cream and ice cream."

Miss Jessie Chamberlain went up to St. Augustine by train Sunday afternoon to spend Christmas, returning Monday night.

"ROMEO AND JULIET"

A DREAM COME TRUE

It is generally the greatest ambition of every real actor and actress to essay the roles of Romeo and Juliet at least once in their career, and Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the foremost stellar combination that ever appeared in the silent drama, are no exceptions to this rule. Indeed, the completion of the elaborate screen production of Shakespeare's immortal drama, marks the highest achievement of their picturesque and successful careers and the fulfillment of hopes they have long entertained.

Ever since Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne first came into fame, about five years ago, their admirers in legion have deluged them with letters suggesting that they appear in "Romeo and Juliet". The two artists were extremely anxious, on their own account to give their interpretation of these roles. But they turned a deaf ear on all proposals to appear in a picture of the drama until they were assured that it would be produced on a scale in keeping with their ideas and ideals.

It was not until a suitable scenario was found by the Metro-Quincy forces that the matter was seriously considered. Then the brainiest and most expert men in the profession were called together, and after a series of conferences, the greatest presentation of a Shakespearean production of all time was outlined. While it is true the production in the realm of the silent drama is robbed of the speaking voice, still there are many other features substituted that more than offset this loss. All the players speak their lines, even if they are not heard, and in this respect it is different from any other feature ever made for the screen.

The presentation of "Romeo and Juliet" upon the screen is the dream of Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne come true and will be presented at the New Daytona theatre Thursday and Friday.

NEW DAYTONA TONIGHT

"The Dollar and the Law," with Lillian Walker, is the attraction at the New Daytona theatre tonight.

"THE ROAD TO LOVE"

Beautiful Lenore Ulrich is the star of "The Road to Love," a Moroccan production which is the Paramount picture at the Crystal theatre today. The action of the story takes place in picturesque Algeria where Hafsa, the beautiful daughter of wealthy old Sidi Malik has aroused the avidity of Lella Sadiya, the "mother" of the dancing girls. She gives orders to have the beautiful girl kidnapped and brought to her.

Meanwhile Gordon Roberts, a young American who is traveling in the Orient, saves the life of Karan, a Bedouin chief, and earns the undying gratitude of the Arab. Gordon meets Hafsa while she is shopping in defiance of her father's commands, and wins her regard by sheltering her from the old man. He is infatuated with her beauty and disguises himself as a peddler in order to meet her again. He is discovered by Nakhla, a spy of her father's, who promptly has Gordon beaten by his retainers.

Gordon and the girl elope, but are captured and the American is turned over to one Abdallah with instructions to sell him as a slave.

Hafsa bribes Abdallah to let her go in the caravan in which Gordon is kept drugged. Karan learns of the predicament of Gordon and worms his way into the friendship of Abdallah until he can drug the guards. But when Gordon is about to escape, he recognizes Hafsa and demands that she go in his place. Karan finally yields to the girl and takes Gordon away.

Hafsa is delivered to Lella and is not seen again by Gordon until she dances at a great fete. She is offered for sale and Gordon makes a desperate effort to outbid an old sheik, but fails. On the wedding day, Hafsa substitutes her maid for herself and escapes with Gordon, but the deception is quickly discovered and a pursuit is begun. As the fugitives reach the garden gate, Malik arrives and cuts off their escape. The pursuing Lella comes up and stares in wonder at Malik, who proves to be her husband. She is the mother of the girl whom she has been attempting to hand over to the sheik.

Just at this moment the old man himself and his retinue are heard approaching and Lella implores Malik to permit his daughter to go her way with Gordon. Snatching the girl's scarf, Lella throws it upon the edge of the garden well, as the lovers make their escape. When the sheik arrives upon the scene, he is shown the scarf and told that Hafsa has chosen her own fate, rather than marry him.

Under the chaperonage of the faithful Karan, the lovers depart across the desert on the road to love.

TRIANGLE PLAY OFFERED PROBLEM IN EMOTIONAL COSTUMING
How should a girl dress whose grandfather hated women and who insisted that his granddaughter garb herself as a boy?

This was a query that had to be decided by Mae Marsh, the Triangle-Fine Arts star, who plays the leading role in "The Wharf Rat," which will be presented at the New Daytona theatre tomorrow.

In the first place, Miss Marsh studied the environment of the girl, then that of the grandfather, then the temperament of both, then what circumstances they were supposed to be in, then the various escapades in which the girl must take part, then the general type of the girl, and then she evolved a boy's costume as follows:

One pair of dusty, ragged corduroy trousers, knee length, and with tatters around the bottom.

One pair of suspenders.

A slouch hat with a frayed brim.

A pair of boy's shoes full of holes—worn sometimes.

In many of the scenes she is pictured in her bare feet.

And when the costume was complete, she was an adorable boy—small, but lithe of figure, and assuming that little slouch characteristic of the youth of fourteen to sixteen.

This will be the attraction at the New Daytona Wednesday and at the Crystal Thursday.

She Knew.

Little Nellie had lived long enough to gain some knowledge of human nature. One day at school her teacher asked her: "Now, Nellie, tell us what a minute-man is." "A minute-man," replied the little girl, without hesitation, "is a man who wants everything done right away."

Frivolity Merely a Pastime.

We cannot live on sweets only. We grow tired of the condiments of life, but not of the staples. Frivolity palls on the palate of the mind; whereas the simple pleasures, and the wholesome recreations which are a reaction from honest work, retain their taste and flavor. Carlyle was right when he declared that "Life cannot be sustained on a diet of broad grins." Riding on a merry-go-round may be an acceptable occasional diversion; but it would be a dreary way to spend one's life. As an object, frivolity is not worth while.

Christmas Goose.

ROAST GOOSE, BRAN BREAD AND APPLE FILLING.

GRAVY.—Clean and truss the goose the same as the turkey. The filling is made as follows: A loaf stale bran bread, a quart finely chopped cooking apples, two tablespoonfuls chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls chopped onions, an egg, a teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful grated nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoonful white pepper, one-eighth teaspoonful paprika and a tablespoonful drippings or butter. Put the drippings and onion into skillet or frying pan, cook a few minutes, add the chopped apples. Cover the bread with cold water a few minutes, remove and press between the hands until all the water has been removed, put into pan, add the seasoning and well beaten egg; keep pan over fire, with wire potato masher keep mashing until thoroughly cooked; it takes about fifteen minutes. Wipe the inside of goose with damp cloth and dust with salt and pepper; put in the filling and sew up the vent. Push back the skin from the neck and chop off the neck. In the skin put two apples which have been pared and quartered; tie the skin. The apples lend a very delicious flavor. Put in pan, breast bone up. Dust goose with salt, pepper and flour, place in hot oven. When seared baste with two cupfuls cold water, turn the breast side down and roast two hours, basting three or four times (always with cold water). Ten minutes before serving time turn the breast side up, remove the fat and make the gravy.

Brown Gravy: To the drippings add a tablespoonful flour, mix well and add two cupfuls cold water or water enough to make two cupfuls gravy, a tablespoonful caramel and seasoning to taste. Serve with the goose.

CHRISTIAN FORUM OF
M.E. CHURCH TO HAVE MANY GOOD SPEAKERS

The Christian Forum of the Daytona Beach Methodist church held its first regular meeting Sunday morning. The Christmas program was held after a short business session, during which the lecture entertainment course for the winter was discussed. The enjoyable literary part of the Forum meeting was the story of "The Other Wise Man" written by Henry Van Dyke and told to the large interested audience by Mrs. Evelyn DeLand, of New Smyrna. Mrs. DeLand was held spellbound by her dramatic presentation of the beautiful tale. She showed rare elocutionary ability and the number was a treat to the members of the Forum and the adult Sunday school classes which were present.

During the present winter, the officers of this Forum plan to have some of the country's greatest men at Daytona Beach to address their meetings. The program will probably be the strongest of any in the south. The speaker-guests are men of large ability, that would fittingly grace any platform in the country.

THREE NEW HOUSES IN MARSHALL PARK

W. W. Marshall has just let contracts to L. Z. Burdick, the well known Seabreeze builder, for the erection of three new bungalows in Marshall park, Daytona Beach. These houses will be put up on Goodall and Vermont avenue. Their location has not been certainly decided yet.

One house will be a good-sized two-story residence valued at probably more than $3,500. The other two houses are to be built in bungalow style and of different size.

Mr. Marshall sold a house last week to Raymond Hutton of the Renner and Williams garage in Daytona, which is now being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hutton and family. Mr. Hutton formerly lived on this side of the river and was an employee of the W. M. Manning garage on Atlantic avenue.

Marshall park has steadily grown each year since Mr. Marshall purchased the large Goodall tract from its former owners. The three new cottages in this part of Daytona Beach will make a total of about 33 houses in this attractive neighborhood.

COUPLE FROM DUPONT ARE MARRIED AT M. E. PARSONAGE

George Edward King and Miss Nelme Owenby, both of Dupont, were married Sunday afternoon by Rev. John Treadwell at the Daytona Beach Methodist parsonage. Mrs. Owenby, the bride's mother and her son were present at the ceremony after which the party left on their return.

DAYTONA BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wright and family, of Bristol, Tenn., came in Friday night from their home to spend the remainder of the season at their home on the river front at Palm place, Daytona Beach. These people have spent the past two seasons and have a number of friends here.

Mrs. E. C. Blackman and daughter, Miss Charlotte, are visiting for several days at the home of Mrs. L. P. Robbins, in lower Daytona Beach. They arrived several days ago from Cleveland, O., for their stay here.

Mrs. Mary Ruger, who has been quite ill at her home on lower Peninsula drive and the river front, is now recuperating and is able to be out for a few pleasant minutes each day.

John D. Sabara arrived recently from the Lawrenceville school at Lawrenceville, N. J., to spend a week at the home of his uncle, H. E. Pence, and family on Ocean avenue, Daytona Beach. He will return to the north at the end of the present week.

Miss Sarah Chase, of Stetson university, DeLand, is enjoying a week's stay at a local hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oehler left Saturday afternoon for Eustis to visit for several days at the home of Mrs. Oehler's relatives. They will probably make a trip to Jacksonville and Pablo Beach to visit at Mr. Oehler's former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hall, of Savannah, Ga., arrived at the end of last week to enjoy a short Christmas stay at the home of Mr. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hall at their winter cottage on Palmetto avenue.

Allen Morgan, of Philadelphia, was expected yesterday to spend the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morgan at their home here.

C. C. Davis, of St. Augustine, a former resident of the beach, came in Saturday afternoon to spend three days at his former home. His friends will be pleased to know that he is prospering in the Ancient City. He returned to that place Tuesday afternoon.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT THE DAYTONA BEACH M. E. CHURCH

At the evening service of the Daytona Beach M. E. church Sunday, the Christmas entertainment for the children of the Sunday school, was held.

The present Christmas was made a giving Christmas instead of a time when presents were received and each class contributed a worthy gift to the work of local missions. The Young Men's class gave a purse of $20 to be used for home mission purposes.

Music was furnished by the choir and by the members of the Sunday school who sang several Christmas songs.

More than 500 people attended the morning service. A chief attraction was the beautiful solo sung by Mrs. W. R. Wharton, who was a member of the choir for the day. Reverend Treadwell told the good old Christmas story rather than preach a sermon.

SEABREEZE

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Darby arrived Sunday evening from their northern home in Bradenton, Pa., to spend the winter at their home on the beach front, Ocean avenue. They were kept from coming south earlier in the season by trouble, which Mr. Darby has had with his eyes, making necessary several operations at Philadelphia. He is now in much better health than during the summer.

G. G. Allen is expected to arrive on December 31, from his northern home to occupy his attractive residence on the corner of Ocean boulevard and Grandview avenue. This residence was built a year and a half ago by Contractor D. F. Fuquay.

Miss Frances Stengle arrived from the Kent school at Summit, N. J., to spend a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stengle, at their home in the Geneva, on the corner of Palmetto avenue and Ocean boulevard.

After the beginning of the new year, the Seabreeze public library will be open twice weekly, each Tuesday and Saturday, from 10 to 12 in the morning, for the convenience of Seabreeze residents.

A party consisting of Misses Mary Reed and Ethel Sholtz and Messrs. Carl and David Sholtz, went down to the dance at the Toronita hotel at Wilbur, Christmas night.

Secret of Laughter.

"The secret of laughter is in the return to nature. Civilization and culture are late additions and we are living to a great extent in artificial conditions. Psychology makes plain the fact that our present mental equipment has been slowly and painfully acquired and a certain strain in maintaining that high altitude is inevitable. This tension is relieved by nonsense and by the portrayal in humorous anecdotes and on the stage of evasions of convention and infractions of the prevailing code of morals and manners.

Following which Max Krugman sang, "O Tannenbaum," in which the audience joined. Then there were recitations by Clara, Paul, Omgard and Reinhold Sinnhoff. They were followed by that beautiful violin solo, "After Vespers," very creditably rendered by Nobody home but the clock and that's full of ticks! And speaking of ticks; did you ever tramp out far two hours on the Florida pine barrens while a bun chaffinch played with a punctured shoe on your ante? If you haven't you've no idea at all of ticks.

We hold the record for the greatest number of passengers carried in one car from an unknown point just north of Hastings to Daytona. Through an intimate knowledge of the situation I should estimate we boasted of at least one hundred passengers—and all of them restless!

But to get down to the bed rock: I left the North in a gale of wind and a snowstorm and a pair of B. V. D.'s and a light overcoat. All the way to Jacksonville my teeth chattered so hard, the other Pullman inmates thought a wheel was loose—somewhere.

We motored south from Jacksonville over a fine road until we hit Ormond. Then! Now look here; I don't approve of mud throwing but take it from me, you can't travel from Ormond to Daytona without throwing mud. However, we all had a pleasant surprise later on as the smooth strip of asphalt hiding the former degradation of beach street opened before us. That is certainly some road. Although it presents one grave danger to the city. When the tourists find themselves on that road they're liable to coast right through Daytona and on to Port Orange!

But considering everything I'm mighty glad to be here shooting dope into the Optimist column instead of shooting the shutes on an icy Yankee sidewalk!

OUR MIGRATORY BIRDS.

Ice and cold and blizzard whirled. Are sweeping northern towns; I'm sorry for the Yankee girls That sport the latest gowns!

If they are wise they'll quit the snow And seek a southern clime; Short skirts are voted warm below The Mason-Dixon line!

Red-birds, blue-birds, chickens fair— (Any kind you please) Come flocking south so they can wear Their dresses to their knees.

But struggle to say, a horde of males Will follow close behind; They'll buy some duds and clean their nails, And quit the business grind.

Daytona'll be their winter camp; They're coming here in herds— Watch out and you will shortly lamp Our Migratory Birds!

Miss Esther Kalb, accompanied by Tucker's orchestra. Miss Kalb has the technique and expression of an artist, playing with both feeling and spirit.

Mr. Burgman then introduced Harry Gartner who conducted the distribution of presents. Surely no such generous carnicopia was ever seen in Daytona before. First, Mr. Gartner had the babies in the arms of their mothers, over 200 of them, marshaled in line and passed before the great decorated banks of presents over which Santa Claus, J. B. Warshauer, and his assistants presided. The baby line was followed by little girls under six; then came little boys under six; girls from six to ten; the boys of that age followed, after which girls and boys from ten to fourteen. In all about 1,700 presents to children were given out, consisting of dolls, drums, building blocks, trumpets, games of all sorts, candy nuts, marbles, worlds of fruit and small bottles of soda water. It was one great glorious and happy success, the wonder of it being its size. Where did they all come from?

In these modern days there are those who say there is no Santa Claus, but those who have reached the short miles of life look back through the dim vista of years of so-called truth about Santa Claus and know he is that spirit of love of children which moved the Saviour of man when He said "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." He could have looked into that vast throng of eager, happy, joyous and loving faces of children, guests of the German-American society and said there is no Santa Claus, would have been a carping critic indeed. Santa Claus was there. Santa Claus saw and spoke to every child who passed him while moving along to receive his bountiful gifts in memory of the Christ child.

Children of all ages were there. Children of many nations were there and all of them will cherish the happy memory of Santa Claus and his kind words until some misguided older person crushes his implicit and joyous belief.

The officers of the German-American society include Ernest Kreitzberg, president; George Dittmann, vice president; John B. Hinsky, treasurer; C. F. Burgman, secretary; John P. Pollitz, financial secretary. The committee in charge of the Christmas celebration was composed of Oscar Michael, John Weldon, Harry Gartner, John B. Hinsky, Wm. Petershon, and Joe B. Warshauer, Santa Claus.

These officers and the committee and the Ladies' auxiliary of the German-American society deserve great credit for the able and efficient management of the celebration.

The officers of the German-American society greatly appreciate and desire to express their thanks to the editors of the local press for their generous and most efficient aid rendered in the columns of their papers, to which the assembling of such a vast audience is almost wholly due, as no other special invitations to the public were sent out.

It isn't the biggest advertisement that gets the most business, but it is the advertisement that says something worth knowing about goods that are worth buying.

Design From Stageland

With the low dance slipper there is an attractive stocking of plain color with a dainty little motif of forget-me-nots in the center of the instep. One pair of white silk hose has black butterflies placed on the instep, where they give interesting charm to pretty feet.

Vells are attached to some of the motoring hats. One is a small velvet toque, with a fine meshed veil attached by the trimming around the crown.

ANNA MAY.

"Peace on Earth" was made by Rev. Sir Wm. J. Drew and the program was closed by the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee," accompanied by the Orchestra.

At the conclusion of the program fruit punch and wafers were served and the Sir Knights and ladies and Masons present enjoyed the refreshments and a brief time in social converse before returning to their homes.

The beautiful Masonic lodge room had been tastefully decorated for the occasion with bamboo and the Stars and Stripes draped in east and west gave a touch of pleasing color in connection with their suggestion of the patriotism of the order. The ceremony is a very beautiful and impressive one.

Ought to Be Ashamed.

"Are you looking for work?" asked the farmer, eagerly. "Yep," replied Flooding Pete: "what kind of work have you got on hand?" "Almost any kind you want." "Well, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, leavin' so much work undone lyin' around. I ain't goin' to hire out to no sich shiftless man as you."

Famous Portrait Painter.

The first portrait painter of the United States to win general fame was Thomas Sully, who was born 132 years ago. One of the first celebrated American historical paintings, "Washington Crossing the Delaware," was the product of his genius. Sully established himself in Richmond as a portrait painter in 1803, but soon removed to New York, and in 1810 to Philadelphia, which city was afterward his home. In addition to "Washington Crossing the Delaware," his famous historical paintings include "The Capture of Major Andre" and "Miranda." As a portrait painter his most notable subjects were Thomas Jefferson, Lafayette, James Madison, John Marshall, Fanny Kemble and Queen Victoria. He visited England to paint the girl queen in her coronation robes. Sully lived to an advanced age, dying in Philadelphia in 1872.

Words Worth Remembering.

The highest representatives of men who have endeavored to search out the deep things during the Christian era are Dante and Milton. . . . It seems daily more amazing to me that such men as these should dare to play with the most precious truths (or the most deadly truths) by which the whole human race listening to them could be informed or deceived—all the world their audience forever with pleased ear and passionate heart—and yet to this submissive infinitude of souls, and evermore succeeding and succeeding multitude, hungry for bread of life they do but play upon sweetly modulated pipes; with pompous nomenclature adorn the councils of hell; touch a troubadour's guitar to the courses of the sun; and fill the openings of eternity before which prophets have veiled their faces, and which angels desire to look into, with idle puppets of their scholastic imagination, and melancholy lights of frantic faith in their lost mortal love.—John Ruskin.

MISS ANNE HOPKINS

Miss Anne Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nevil Monroe Hopkins of Washington, made her bow to society at a tea recently. She is a member of Washington's residential set, where she is a favorite.

A Necessity.

"When I go on a vacation you don't catch me borrowing a suitcase from one friend, a trunk from another and a tennis racket of golf stick from another." "That's good. But don't you ever borrow anything at all?" "Oh, yes. Of course I borrow money."

Wanted Honest Opinion.

Richardson, the painter, used to speak of an open, honest country gentleman who one day asked him to come to his house, adding, "I wish very much to see you, for I have just purchased a picture by Rubens. It is a rare good one. Brown saw it, and says it is a copy. A copy! If any man living dares to say it is a copy I will break every bone in his skin! Pray, call on me and give me your opinion."

Poetry and Noses.

I have read that no poem was ever written to a nose. Can you, offhand, recall a single rapturous or even admiring description of one? I search my memory in vain, but produce instead one instance that has always interested me by its neglect. You recall that little poem of Browning's, "A Face," the brief and charming description of a girl's profile against a background of gold. The "matchless mold" of softly parted lips, the "neck three fingers might surround," and the "fruit-shaped perfect chin" all receive their due of praise; the nose, a seeming necessity in any profile, is not even mentioned. It may be as well; each reader supplies, in the lovely face, the line that suits him best. The poet may have feared that by its mere mention he would produce the effect too often given by the nose in real life—a heaviness that mars an otherwise charming face.—Atlantic Monthly.

How to Brew Tea.

It is generally believed that anyone can make tea. This is far from the case. Great care should be taken to have the teapot hot. Scald it out with hot water before putting in the dry tea. The water to pour on the leaves should not only be boiling, but should be freshly boiled. The big teakettle which stands on the stove all day and is filled at irregular intervals does not furnish the best water for the purpose. Get a small enameled-ware kettle holding about a quart of water. Pour the water on the tea, which should not steep over three minutes. Then you will have a cup of tea which is not only very much better in flavor but is much more wholesome than that made in the ordinary careless fashion.

They were taking their turn in the risky work of conveying the wounded from the most advanced positions of the front. Every French surgeon who has seen them at their work is full of praise for their spirit of self-sacrifice.

To Drill Earthenware.

To drill earthenware, use a steel drill, ground at the cutting end into a triangular-based pyramid. Turn the tool rapidly, and aid the action by the application of a solution of camphor in turpentine. If no such drill can be obtained make one out of an old three-cornered file by softening it, filing up until the edges are sharp, and then tempering. The extreme tip may advantageously be made with a great-angle.

COLORED MAN KILLED BY MIDNIGHT TRAIN

Lark Christie, a colored resident of Midway, met death about 1 o'clock this morning on the F. E. C. railway tracks just north of the freight depot.

Christie had been working at Oak Hill of late, picking oranges, and came home to spend Christmas with his wife at the Brown house, a lodging place on Harris street, Midway, where they made their home. He was returning to Oak Hill, in company with three companions, when killed. All four were running along the tracks from Midway to the depot to board the train, No. 57, due here from Jacksonville at 12:35 a. m. Christie was some distance ahead of the other men and they do not know definitely what happened, but think that in his hurry he became confused and remained on the main line while thinking that he was on the side track. His head was crushed and he was otherwise injured, but the body was not mangled, being thrown clear of the track and not gave interpretative dances, accompanied on the piano by Miss Norma Williams, which were rendered in a charming manner.

The merry party dispersed at midnight, declaring Miss Frances D. Piper, the general managress, to be an ideal hostess, and the Toronita hotel and Wilbur-by-the-Sea to be the nearest spots to Paradise possible.

The following guests, who came from every section of the United States were present:

Oh, So Sweetly.

The young women present were discussing their ages. And one of the girls said: "I don't know what it is about my appearance, but everybody always guesses me a lot younger than I really am." And another of the girls answered, oh, so sweetly: "Oh, that's after they have heard you talk, isn't it, dear?"
